

Reading War-poetry Meeting at the Peace Memorial Park

14 May, 2017

Reported by Ayu, English Club

Kamokita English Club members participated in the Reading War-poetry Meeting at the Peace Memorial Park on 14 May, 2017. This meeting is held by the Coventry-Club in Hiroshima every year. I read “The Stars That Wandered Hiroshima,” putting my heart into the poem. This poem was written by Antony Owen. He lives in Coventry and has been written poems about war and peace. He visited Hiroshima in 2014, and this inspired him in his poetry writing.

In the meeting, we enjoyed nice music played by volunteers. This performance fits well with the reading. This meeting is a great opportunity to think about war and peace, and as a result my hope for peace got stronger.
